They Cannot Get Along Without the White Metal States.

SO SAYS CHAIRMAN CARTER.

The Party Is in Need of the Votes of the Eighteen Senators from the Far West.

pecial to The Post-Dispatch. CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—Late las ght Chairman Carter of the National epublican Committee, through the urgof the Post-Dispatch correspondent, used the subjoined statement to be pre-red. It is his official utterance and he is responsible for the opinions it con-in spite of the fact that he insisted nator Dubois should share the re-lity. It is headed, "Statement of s Carter and Dubois," and is as

"The advocates of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 15 to 1 did not come to this convention from any particular section of the country. While the States west of the Missouri River are unanimously in favor of free coinage, it is a noteworthy fact that nearly if not every delegation contained radical free coinagement. We found a very strong silver sentiment here.

delegation contained radical free coinage men. We found a very strong silver sentiment here.

"The advocates of free coinage insisted that the convention should either make an open, clear and fearless declaration on the financial question or else drop behind the constitutional requirement of the league of the declaration and aboutely, desist from any and all declarations upon public questions. Owing to the manner by which delegates were selected, and because no expression from this conjention could be binding, it was considered advisable by all to postpone definite action until the national convention of 1896. The convention through its committee, whose report was unanimously approved, practically disclaimed jurisdiction to formulate or promulgate any resolution relating to or assuming to define party principles. The court having disclaimed jurisdiction, the free coinage people did not test called upon to press their suit. This refers the whole platform to the Republican convention of 1896. We believe then our party will declare to restore silver. Until they meet we decline to say what action our section of the country will take.

"The Republican States of the West are fully represented in the Senate and House, and it is unquestionably true that they show a better Republican States of the West will not be bolters. If it pleases any Republican States in the East to fall in line with the political and financial subterfuges of Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic Administration, our substantial, unfailing Republican communities may view their departure in sorrow, but they will in all suman probability decline to follow.

"The thoughtiess persons who feel inclined to suggest that the Republican party can get along without the silver States without the aid of the eighteen Republican senators from the so-called silver States without the aid of the eighteen Republican senators from the so-called silver States.

would do well to reflect upon the fact that without the aid of the eighteen Republican Senators from the so-called eifver States, the Republican party can never hope to see any party purpose or principle crystal-lized into law and placed upon the statute books of the United Sties."

SEDALIA, Mo., June 22.—In view of the will probably call a State convention to discuss the silver question, Sedalia will make an effort to secure the convention. make an effort to secure the convention. The Pettis County Democratic Central Committee will at once formulate a letter to be sent to the chairmen of each Democratic County Central Committee in the State, asking that their influence be exerted in favor of Sedalia. The question of a suitable building in which to hold the convention is also being discussed. The opera-house, with a seating capacity of over 1,100, has heretofore met all requirements, but it is now proposed to erect a temporary structure with a seating capacity of 2,000 in case Bedalia succeeds in securing the convention.

FREE SILVER SENTIMENT.

Chauncey Depew Found It Strong in the South and West. NEW YORK, June 22.-Chauncey M. Dew, who has just returned from his Westessee labeled 16 to 1 and the feeling on free silver very strong. The friends of gold coinage admit it will be hard to convert the coinage admit it will be hard to convert the State to the yellow metal. In Kentucky the feeling is also strong and the State would be overwhelmingly for free silver, Mr. Depew says, if it were not for Carlisle's speeches. In Ohio, the chatty Chauncey claims the sentiment among Democrats was strongly for free silver coinage at 15 to 1, but that it is changing to gold. Republicans in Ohio are talking of international bimetallism. Republicans in Tennessee and Kentucky hope to see the Democratic party split on the coinage question and to carry the States themselves.

THE LAWYERS

Don't Know How to Interpret the New Judgment Law.

DIFFER IN THEIR OPINIONS.

Judge Madill Does Not Think the Law Applies to Decrees Rendered Prior to Its Enactment.

Opinion as to the merits and demerits o the new law curtailing the rights of judg-ment creditors is as greatly varied as have been the expressions regarding its consti-tutionality. The publication in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch of the text of the law and its able effect occasioned no little alarm considerable surprise, but it also well as litigants, Tuesday's publication was the first intimation of the existence of such the first intimation of the existence of such an enactment. Since the matter has been more carefully examined, the impression strengthens that the new law will entirely wipe out unsatisfied judgment of tea years standing. In fact, there is a probability that this is the only class of judgments that it will affect in view of a peculiar practice that has grown up under the old law and which may possibly be continued under the new.

Whether the destruction of the obligations mentioned will be a benefit or a misfortune is variously viewed. Under the interpretation of the law taken by many it amounts to a bankruptcy act pure and simple. Those of the legal fraternity who have favored a national bankruptcy law look upon this State enactment with great favor. So do the 20,000 citizens, more or less, who have ancient, unsatisfied judgments hanging over their heads. On the other hand, the opposite class consider it as working a hardship upon them, and for alies they have a very appreciable proportion of the lawyers of St. Louis.

gite class consider it as working a narusmy upon them, and for allies they have a very appreciable proportion of the lawyers of St. Louis.

Although the scope of the law is as yet undetermined, with such an authority as Judge Geo. A. Madill holding that it affects only prospective judgments, many lawyers expressed the intention Tuesday of taking no chances, and of filing suit upon old judgments before next Friday, when the new law takes effect. At the office of Circuit Clerk Rodgers Tuesday Chie? Deputy Jeffrey stated that a large number of suits are expected, the theory being accepted there that the law wipes out all judgments coming under the ten-year limitation at the present time.

There is a disinclination on the part of lawyers questioned on the scope of the enactment to have their opinion quoted. The questions involved appear to them so nice that they fear to be proved wrong in hazarding an opinion, without a careful examination of the matter. One of these gentlementated to a Post-Dispatch reporter, however, that in his opinion "the fact that the enactment specifies no date of judgments to be affected by it, indicates that it is to embrace all existing judgments. As for the question of a feasonable length of time for the institution of suits before the law shall become operative, what constitutes a reasonable length of time is in the province of the Legislature to decide and not a matter for judical decision. The constitutionality of the law, even under this broad scope, seems to me established, since it affects a remedy only and not a vested right. It will also affect judgments obtained in the United States Courts, because, while judgments of the latter now run twentry years, the common law limitation, there being no United States statutory specification of the life of a judgment of the State, with which the Federal Courts conform in certain matters of practice undefined by United States Statute. "It can see nothing in this law," said Judge Madill, as he carefully studied its text, "that would indicate

The wording of the new enactment at the outset, according to some of the lawyers seen, is very vague in regard to the intention respecting judgments of the Federal courts. It reads: "Every judgment, order and decre of any court of record of the United States of this or any other State or territory." This is held by some to mean Federal courts specifically.

In support of the view that existing judgments are affected, is cited the practice already referred to that has sprung up under the old law. It has been possible to keep judgments alive forever. At the expiration of the first ten years after rendition, it has been customary to sue on the original judgment. Practically a new judgment having been secured, this is revived every three years until the expiration of ten years from its rendition, when another suit is instituted on the second judgment and so on, ad infinitum, still keeping within the requirements of the limitation statute. The new law repealing the old makes no provision for reviving judgments every three years by motion, and does not prohibit the institution of suits on judgments except after ten years from the day of their rendition. Therefore, it is held, the practice under the old law can be followed under the new, and such judgments as have not already endured ten years may be kept alive indefinitely. The practical effect of the new law in that case will be only upon judgments in which the ten year limitation has already expired.

It is stated that shortly after the law takes effect a suit on a judgment of ten ments in which the ten year limitation has already expired.

It is stated that shortly after the law takes effect a suit on a judgment of ten years' standing will be instituted, and carried to his highest court, in order to test the law. Until this is done no party to an old judgment, whether debtor or creditor, will have the least idea "where he is at," since the existing order of things has been so awfully deranged by the obscure and yexatious law which was hurried through the General Assembly with such successful precautions for secrecy.

RELICS OF THE PANIC

Lost by City Auditor Brown When

Robbed Recently. When City Auditor Brown was robbed recently his pocketbook contained some interesting souvenirs of the days when he was Mayor of St. Louis. He served two terms as Mayor from 1871 to 1873, the term then being two years. In 1873, during the financial panic which swept the country, the Bank of Missouri suspended and $464,000 of the city's money was tied up. The treasury was depleted and the laboring men employed on public works could not get their wages. At one fime things looked threatening. The men to the number of several hundred assembled at the City Hall and demanded their money. While the excitement was at its height one man called out "We will have money or blood." This infamed the mob and trouble seemed inevitable. Mayor-Brown went out and mounting a dry goods box addressed the crowd! He told them he sympathized with them, and they ought to have their money, and concluded by assuring them they should be paid in full if they would give him a week's time. They believed him and the crowd dispersed.

That night Capt. Brown left for New York. He had a plate engraved and caused to be issued $500,000 of what were afterwards known as "brown backs." They were in denominations of $1, $2$ and $3 and were just When City Auditor Brown was robbed re

They were in denominations of $1, $2 and $3 and were just the same as Government greenbacks except as to color, the City of $1. Louis being substituted for the United States. It was against the law to issue a greenback. On his return the men were paid in this substitute for money. They went at par unquestioned. After the excitement was over the banks took them, and some of them circulated in Chicago and elsewhere. They were subsequently redeemed at the city treasury, and up to very recently etray bills were presented for redemption at long intervals.

CAMP-MEETING NOW.

All-Denominational Services to Open at De Hodiament Sunday Afternoon.

A tent, capable of seating 2,500, has been erected on De Hodiamont avenue, between Page and Ridge avenues. Sunday afternoon it will be thrown open and the first of the all-denominational camp meeting services to be held this summer will begin.

Rev. Ben Deering has been preparing for it for more than a month, and announces that before the meeting closes some of the greatest revivalists and preachers of all denominations in this country will have exhorted sinners within the spacious canvas. Mr. Deering has as yet announced no regular programme for Sunday, but several prominent local ministers will be present. This will be the only camp meeting. Mr. Deering says, which will be held in St. Louis this summer. Another meeting will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday, and at that hour each night during the week. Sunday afternoons special services will be held.

The meeting will continue 2 month or more. Mr. Deering says few. Sam P. Jones, Dr. Talmage and a number of prominent avangelists have been invited, and he is confident a number of them will accept. He has invited Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, but as yet have received no answer. Dr. Carradine of the Southern Methodist Church will also be a prominent worker at these meetings.

of Young Lynch Revealed.

Charles H. Gore, arent of the Preferred Accident Insurance Company, returned to the city Saturday. Concerning the exhuming of the remains of young J. B. S. Lynch and the holding of a post-mortem in Calvary Cemetery, Mr. Gore said that he received instructions to pay the full amount of the policy on the lad's life as soon as it was shown that declased came to his death from drowning. To get at the real cause a post-mortum was held, with the consent of George N. Lynch, father of the dead boy, and, Mr. Gore says, Drs. Hochdoerfer and Hill, who performed the post-mortum, discovered that there was no water in the lungs, and from this concluded that death was not due to drowning. The policy covers death by accident only.

Two doctors who have passed through the hospital said recently that hundreds of young doctors would gladly pay for the privilege of the hospital course, instead of asking pay, and that their experience had been worth thousands of dollars to them. Health Commissioner Starkloff is not opposed to the idea. He said: "My idea is to charge a fee to the students of the various medical colleges who attend the clinics at the hospital, and so make that fund pay the small salary asked by the assistant physicians. The argument that the experience is well worth the services rendered cannot be refuted, but I am not opposed to giving them a trifle for clothes and spending money. It gives the poor doctor a chance. There are poor but capable young doctors who cannot afford to take the hospital course and clothe themselves, and the rich man has the advantage over them."

To the suggestion that this was putting the case simply on a charity basis Dr. Starkloff replied that this was largely true, but said he thought poor doctors of talent should have an equal opportunity of taking advantage of the hospital course with their more fortunate brethren. He said he thought the salary would prove an incentive to the assistants to enter more heartily into their work.

Although taken from the stable where he worked, identified by the man who accompanied him to the City Hospital and by Mr. Murphy after death, the agent of the insurance company at the time set up the claim that the body was not that of Sturgis, and that an attempt to defraud the company hid been made.

The agent, resisting payment, also charged that his son last the policy and receipt without collecting the premium on Sturgis promise to pay later. Mr. Murphy said he isomed Sturgis part of the premium money at the time the agent called to collect it. An attempt to induce the widow to give up the policy failed.

Councilman Mr. Utthoff has introduced by request four bills which, if adopted, will revolutionize the office of the Building Commissioner and take the department wholly out of the control of the President of the Board of Public Improvements. Section 700, Revised Ordinances, is to be so amended as to place all public buildings, including institutions, under the immediate control of the Building Commissioner, taking them out of the control of the President of the Board.

Section 701, defining the qualifications and duties of the Building Commissioner is to be amended so that "he (the commissioner) shall have supervision and control of all additions, alterations and repairs to public buildings when the same are ordered by propar authority, not including, however, wordered by ordinance, and he shall advertise for bids for three days, and let said work to the lowest bidder, without the consent of any higher authority."

The third bill seeks to amend section 130, providing for the appointment of a Commissioner of Public Buildings, by striking out the words "under the control and direction at the President of the Board of Public Improvements."

The fourth bill introduced by Mr. Utheff seeks to amend section 138, by which the President of the Board of Public Improvements and repairs.

Whoever is responsible for these measures omitted a bill to amend section 138, which provides that the President of the Board of Public Improvements shall have general supervision over the departments and all pay rolls and accounts shall be submitted to him, and he shall certify tham to the Auditor.

NATURAL MONOPOLIES.

Mr. Seneca N. Taylor's Studies of the Problem of Municipal Beform.

Lawyer Seneca N. Taylor delivered an elaborate address last night before the elaborate address last night before the alumni association of the Adrian (Mich.) College on "Present Discontent—Its Causes and Dangers."

Mr. Taylor prefaced his remarks by saying he had spent thirty years of his life studying law and economics as affecting the rights of citizens. The causes of corruption in governments, municipal, State and Federal, he said, are not understood by the people as a whole, nor have the wrongs inflicted by private corporations enjoying natural monopolies received the attention to which the subject is entitled. In St. Louis about twenty years ago the St. Louis Gas Co. was charging the anormous rate of $2.50 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. A new franchise was granted to what

St. Louis Gas Co, was charging the snormous rate of $2.50 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. A new franchise was granted to what was known as the Water Gas Co, and the streets were torn up and new mains laid upon the agreement that gas should be supplied at a reasonable rate. But after the city had suffered all this trouble and annoyance it only resulted in the old company acquiring the franchise of the new without the public reaping any of the benefits. Subsequently another company known as the Laclede Gaslight Co. secured a franchise, the city hoping that a reduction in rates would result from competition. They simply divided the territory, each company operating the territory allotted to it, and the city derived no benefit whatever.

Manchester, England, owns its own gas works, and the price is $4 cents. Belfast, Ireland, paid $1.20 to a private corporation. The muncipality bought the plant, and the works, and the price is $4 cents. Belfast, Ireland, paid $1.20 to a private corporation. The muncipality bought the plant, and the charge is now $6 cents. Leeds owns its plant and charges but $4 cents. None of the large cities in Scotland owning their gas plants charge over $6 cents, yet a sufficient profit is made to pay the interest on the cost of the plants and supply a sinking fund. Wheeling, W. Va., furnishes its own gas for $6 cents, and Vassar College makes its gas for $6 cents, and Vassar College makes its gas for $6 cents, and Vassar College makes its gas for $6 cents, and Vassar College makes its gas for $6 cents.

Now, can any thinking man escape the conclusion that private companies exercising the right to furnish gas at $1.20 to $2.50 per 1,000 cubic feet are not in effect plunderers and robbers of the public?

Lewiston, Me., formerly paid $5 cents per are light a night, the lamps burning only till midnight. It put in its own plant, and now its lights cost only is cents per light all night.

The Bell Telephone is another monopoly. In $1. Louis it is operated under a charter from the State granted for a period of $6 years. The evenue the company pays the city is 5 per cent of its gross earnings, and the price for phones in business hoases and residences is $100 a year. This leaves the inet sum of $35 for the company.

The most oppressive natural monopoly operated in our cities are the street car lines. Ignorance or corruption leads the City Councils to give sway franchises of immense value from which the promotors grow immensely wealthy, while the city receives no compensation whatever. A straight 5 cent fare, or at best six rides for a quarter, is the usual charge.

St. Louis has the finest street rallway system in the world, but the city derives little revenue from these lines. Their capital stock is $22,487,000, and the bonded debt $18,117,000. There are $75 miles of street car tracks. The total annual revenue derived by the city is $13,28. The gross income of the roads last year was $4,500,000. A 5 cent fare is charged.

In Detroit a new street railway company with 40 miles of track is limited to sell ticksts eight for 5 cents, good between 5:65 a. m. and 8 p. m., before and after which time a 5-cent fare can be charged.

to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, June 22.—A special dispatch from Philadelphia, making announce ment of the impending dismissal of from seventy-five to 100 carriers in the Philadel phia Post-office and a permanent reduction in the force to that extent, made a great sensation in the Post-office Department this morning. First Assistant Postmaster-General Jones felt very much put out at the carelessness of the Philadelphia officials who allowed the department's plans to become known before they could be put into actual operation. He refused, however, to go into details in regard to the matter, but said he would make them public at the proper time.

The Secret Service, which Gen. Jones has had in operation for several months in his efforts to reform the carrier service, has, it is learned, accomplished remarkable results. The agents have covered less than half the country as yet, but working State by State they have never failed to prove that the carrier service is in need of extensive reforms, especially in the larger cities.

This was smeared on the stock and a candle was left burning. When the candle burned down there was an explosion followed by roaring flames. The insurance money was divided between the fire insurance company adjusters, the Fire Marshal's men and the insured. Mrs. Caroline Almeling of 2124 Dolman street, who Friday, at 6 p. m., swallowed a large dose of arsenic with intent to kill herself, is out of danger and will recover. She is at the City Hospital, whither she was taken by her neighbor, Mrs. Augusts. Selke, who heard her frantic screams directly after the woman had taken the polson. A story of love at first sight, fast and furious courtship and ultimate desertion for another on the part of the man, is behind her attempted suicide. The object of her affection is John Vogel, with whom she occupied a house at 2261 Indiana avenue. Close environments engendered passionate love. For a time Mrs. Aimeling worked in the Kennard Carpet Co.'s store, but not long ago lost her position. The loss of her position was followed by loss of lover. He married another woman and she found it out three days ago. Then courage failed her and she sought peace in death. As soon as she had swallowed the poison she respented of her act and wants to live. John Vogel, the cause of all the commotion, would not make a statement, when seen in regard to Mrs. Almeling's attempt upon her life. Her brother-in-law is Geo. Dorman. He said that the woman had been married to Harry Curtis, a street our builder, against the wishes of her father. They soon separated.

JULIAN LAW'S LEGALITY.

City Counselor Marshall Holds That It Is Unconstitutional.

of franchises for the occupancy of the nies, and other corporations, to the highes bidder, which law goes into effect next month, is unconstitutional and void. He advises the Council to ignore it and pro-ceed to legislate as though it was not in ex-man of the Committeee on Rallroads, of the Council.

Mr. Marshall points out that certain provisions of the law are of necessity impossible of execution. These defects have been pointed out heretofore in the Post-Dispatch. A railroad company might run over a private right of way over part of its route, and over streets or other public property on other parts. The difficulty of ascertaining what percentage of its receipts would accrue from the use of the public part of the right of way is pointed out. The same is true of extensions to lines now in operation. The law is not retro-active and could not cover the receipts of territory occupied under previous franchises, and it would be impossible to adjust the portion of the receipts due to extensions.

But Am. Marshall bases his opinion not on the impossibility of execution, nor on the ambiguous language of the statute, but on the constitution expressly forbidding the Legislature granting the right to any street car company to operate or maintain a line of the constitution and the statute of the constitution and the constitution and the constitution are presented to the constitution and the constitution are presented to the constit

THE KENTUCKY IDEA.

Missouri does her own thinking. The suspected origin of Col. John H. Carroll's proposition to postpone a State convention until too late to be of any value in the campaign of education is disclosed. Mr. D. R. Francis comes forward as its sponsor. He is now willing to accept October instead of January, but at any rate he is of the opinion that Aug. 15, the time named in the resolution adopted by the County Chairmen, "is entirely too early." Here is his reason for desiring delay: tucky elects a Governor the first Monday in August. The Kentucky Democrats have declared against free silver, and our convention should be held a sufficient length of time thereafter to enable us to see the effect of the action of the Kentucky convention. If the convention is held Aug. 15 ere will be no time to see the results of

The only conceivable excuse for this preposterous proposition is that Mr. nds is a Kentuckian and naturally assumes that Missouri is entitled to no ion of its own, but should meekly take its cue from Kentucky. It implies that Missourians are not intelligent enough to do their own thinking or to form their own opinions; that their conons on the currency question are so unstable that they can be swaved for or est the free coinage of silver by the result of a vote in another State, taken tform which it is predetermined shall be a compromise and a dodge.

The Post-Dispatch does not share Mr. Francis' poor opinion of the people of Missouri. It does not believe that their demand for an opportunity to express their views on the currency question is a hysterical impulse that will pass away as soon as the hysteria has subsided. It believes that their long, steady and consistent support of genuine bi-metallism, the free coinage of gold and silver at the lawful ratio, is the fixed on of intelligent men and not the re bleating of human sheep. It does we that the industrious proparanda of Wall Street views that has recently been carried on by Wall Street ans and emissaries has had any such effect as Mr. Francis thinks it has in these convictions. It does not share in Mr. Francis' impression that is waiting on Kentucky in order to find out what it thinks on the mo

Missouri does her own thinking. THE JULIAN LAW.

The Post-Dispatch believes that City or Marshall is wrong in his opinion that the Julian law providing for the sale and taxation of franchises is unconstitutional; but it also believes it to be a matter of small concern to people of St. Louis whether the Legislature kept within its constitutional powers in passing this act or not.

The Julian act embodies a wise and just policy in the disposal of public franchises Its object is to protect the people against greed and corruption. It prescribes a businesslike method of granting franchises. It will promote the public welfare and place all franchise-seekers on an equality. The wisdom and equity of the measure and the need of the policy to he found in the reports of "sound it embodies to overthrow a corrupt and money" organs is corroborated by the

the law.

Unless the Municipal Assembly has more regard for the interests of corporations and franchise-grabbers than for the rights and interests of the people of the city, the Julian law will be effective and franchises will be sold to the highest bidders and equitably taxed.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

NO. XII.-SHRINKAGE IN VALUES The suspension of the coinage of silver in 1873 was a double enormity. It not only deprived the people of one-half of their supply of constitutional money, but it virtually doubled their funded debts by reducing the value of the commodities they had to pay with.

If a Missouri farmer who owes $1,000 has 1,000 bushels of wheat in his barn worth $1 a bushel he is even with his and pay the debt with the proceeds. But suppose the price of wheat falls to 50 cents a bushel; then his debt is virtually doubled, for it takes double the quantity of wheat to pay it.

This is the way in which the suspension of silver coinage affected our people, for ours is a debtor country and all its bonded obligations rest on the people at last. It did not change the face value of the debts, but it halved the value of the text had a saw ith Take our what they had to pay with. Take our two great export staples, wheat and cotton, whose price in gold is fixed at Liverpool, and which we send abroad to pay the interest on our bonds. In 1873 the average farm price of wheat was $1.15 a bushel; in 1894, only 49 centsdecline of 66 cents a bushel-more than

If we take one-half this falling off, 33 cents, as the average for the period and estimate it on the aggregate wheat crops for the period-7.770 million bushels shows a decline in the debt-paying value of this one crop alone of $2,590,000,000.

Then, as to cotton. The price in 1873 was 20 cents a pound; in 1894 it was 7. cents-a decline of 13 cents-nearly twothirds. It is not claimed that the whole of this was due to legislation against silver; but if only one-fourth of it be attributed to that cause, the loss estimated on the aggregate crops for the period-100 million bales-reaches the ous sum of 1,625 million dollars.

The decline in the value of horses per been from $76 in 1873 to $36 in 1894-$40 a head-or more than one-halfwhich, estimated on the whole number of horses in the country in 1894-16,000,shows a loss of $640,000,000.

The decline in the value of mules has peen from $95 to $62 a head—$33; of cattle from $20 to $14.50 a head-$5.50; of milch cows from $29 to $23 a head; and of sheep from $3 to $2 a head; and these declines estimated respectively upon the number of each class of animals in 1894, show an aggregate loss of over 1,000 million

It takes, therefore, three times as many bales of cotton to pay a debt now as i took in 1873; it takes twice as much wheat, more than twice as many horsesmore farm animals of every kind but

The figures are enormous: and vet they probably fall short of exhibiting the full easure of the loss inflicted on the farming interest of the country by the suspension of silver coinage in 1873. Whatever the loss carefully estimated on the basis of these figures, might appear to be, whether four, five, six or seven thousand million dollars, this muc the colnage of silver had not been suspended in 1873, but had been continued under the old policy, the farming class would be this day that many millions better off than it is-for the prices of cotton, grain, wool and all farm animals would be at least twice as high as they are at present. KERTUCKY FOR FREE COINAGE.

There is something queer about that alleged "sound money" victory in Ken-tucky which the gold organs of Louisville have been so blatantly proclaiming since the primaries on Monday last. In order to understand the situation it is necessary to bear in mind that every daily newspaper in Louisville is a "sound money" organ, as are nearly all the prominent Kentucky newspapers outside of Louisville. The sources of news, therefore, are wholly under the control of "sound money" influences.

The Courier-Journal is the newspaper leader of the "sound money" campaign tion of the results of the convention pri-maries. It has polled the delegates on the gubernatorial nomination and also on the money question, but it carefully avoids stating that it has made the latter port and fails to give satisfactory figures to support its loud and persistent claims of on the gubernatorial nomination the Courier-Journal credits Hardin, the free silver candidate, with a vote of 375. It credits Clay, who has refrained from making a money issue, with 300 votes, leaving 194 scattering and unplaced votes, It explains this lead of the free silver candidate on the ground that many "sound money" men have personal preference for Hardin, but on the other hand its own reports show silver delegations with a personal preference for Clay.

On the money question the Courier-Journal reports 231 delegates either in-Journal reports 231 delegates either instructed or with openly avowed sentiments for free silver coinage. It reports only thirty-six delegates instructed against free coinage and to make up its boasted "sound money" majority counts all the delegates sent by conventions which indersed the national platform of '92 or the Administration, which is customary in party conventions, and 246 uninstructed delegates which it claims that the personal interests of the candidates and the desire to secure harm will prevent a contest over the money question in the convention.

The strong evidence of the falsene

This report states emphatically that Hardin is expected to win on the first ballot and that the "sound money" men are certain of humiliating defeat if a fight is made in the convention. They are begging, it asserts, for a compromise, to which Hardin is inclined to yield in order that the party may not be divided.

The alleged "sound money" victory in Kentucky is nothing more than the old plutocratic dodge of claiming everything. There is no evidence of it, but there is strong evidence of an overwhelming majority in the convention for free silver coinage. If this majority does not express its conviction it will be because the party leaders and candidates are afraid of a split and will combine to hold down the majority and secure a compromise. the majority and secure a compr

He recommends the forming of co-operative mail clubs among the farmers of a neighborhood. Each member of the club agrees to get and distribute among the other members the mail for a particular day and thus the members of the club can get their mail and the weather forecast every day in the week without much trouble to each one. By this plan one of the great hardships of farm life may be removed and the farmer and his family kept in constant communication with the kept in constant communication with the outside world. From Frankfort (Ky.) Dispatch to Cincinnati Enquirer.

The news comes from Washington that Mr. Carlisle will be perfectly content with the readoption of the Chicago platform, with an additional clause reading some-thing like this: "We commend the efforts of the present Administration to give the country an honest Government." Only that, and nothing more. Strange as this may sound to the exultant gold bugs and may sound to the exuitant gold bugs and chirping cuckoos in every part of the nation, who are watching the campaign in Kentucky with an intensity of interest only equaled by the desperate activity in behalf of Cleveland on the part of every Federal official in the State, from the rederal official in the State, from the humble colored janitors of the custom houses to the proud and confident collectors of internal revenue, the sentence quoted is very akin to the plank of indorsement which Secretary Carlisle wishes to have incorporated in the platform. The authority for this statement is of the most trustworthy sort, and The Enquirer correspondent sot it from one of the middle-ground party leaders, who heard directly from Mr.

Their faces are haggard and drawn; their backs ache; their nerves are unstrung, and their brains are muddled. All this is the result of malpoise and waste of nerve force through misdirected locomotive action. Walking on scientific principles, with unimpeded hip and leg action, and otherwise a conservation of energy, is a joy alike to the walker and the onlooker.

Jefferson City Bankers' Convention To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read your editorial in yesterday's issue in regard to the resolution passed by the State Bankers' Association, and I heartily approve it, and as the State Exchange Bank of this city, of which I am President, is nominally a member of that association, I ask the privilege to say further, that I was not present at said convention, and am in no way responsible for its action.

The action of the convention as reported, was, in my judgment, unauthorized and The action of the convenient and was, in my judgment, unauthorised and very foolish. If this be true the resolutions are not in fact to be considered as the work of the convention. WEB M. RUBEY. Macon, Mc., June II.

The Salvation Army.

To the Editor of the Pest-Dispatch.

"Citizen" has a good deal of reason in what he says about the Salvation Army rushing into trouble in what looks an unnecessary and foolish way. I was not particularly defending the Army. It is not supposed to be composed of cautious business men, and looks upen broken heads among its members as specimens of martyrdom. What I object to is the supercitiousness of these big hotel-keepers, who seem to think they own the earth, and that the streets around their places are holy ground. As to whether or not the Salvation Army or anyone else should resist evil, or after the teaching of Toistel, submit to anything and everything. Starting out for a day's pleasure in the country with her little brood of four, Mrs. Marx Remaud of 2004 East Graud avenue is now almost dazed with grief over the terrible calamity that befell her at the outset of her journey. The mother and children had been waiting for some time at the Grand ave, station for the 7:07 Frisco train, which was to take them to Old Orchard. Just as the train approached at full speed the mother hurried her little-ones to her side. The baby she carried in her arms. Theresa, the 5-year-old daughter, unmindful of danger and eager with a child's delight over the prospective railross ride, rushed on ahead, and just in front of the engine. In a moment the big monster had passed over her little body.

The mother even then was not aware of the dreadful fate of her little one until the train was stopped and the bruised and mangled body of Theresa pulled from underneath the tender. An ambulance was called, and the injured child with her mother and other children was conveyed to the residence of her sincle, W. P. Lamb, 112 South Channing avenue. common sense rules, but in the true inwardness of life as well.

Here is a case in point:

Some years ago the head of the most successful health institute in America, the Invalide' Hotal and Surgical institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., set out to make a much needed discovery which should be founded on common sense and appeal to the common sense of common humanity. Tale man, R. V. Pierce, M. D., author of The People's Common Sense Medical 'Adviser, of which more copies have been sold than of any other book published in this country, had from his long experience an a scientife investigator, physician and student of human nature, become convinced that the American people lacked nervous stamins. The very energy which enabled them to conquer a new land and develop it to the foremost rank among the powers of the world, was, he said, proving a task master which was driving men and women to physical prostration. Whether this prostration found its seat in the nervous system, brain, heart, lungs, stomach, kidneys, liver or blood—and whether it was called neuralgia, dyspepsia, female weakness, "brain fag," insomnia, heart disease, or nervous prostration, Dr. Pierce reasoned, and very properly, that the cause was due to our high pressure manner of living. He found, furthermore, that these disorders could not be reached by the remedies of other actions or other times, but that these peculiar and hitherto unknown conditions called for a peculiar and hitherto unknown conditions called for a peculiar and hitherto unknown system of treatment. e who burned the candle at both ends did not sed a stimulant, but a new means of strength, new blood and new nerve force. So highly is Dr. Pierce regarded at home that he has been repeatedly elected to the highest public offices (such as State Senstor and United States Representative), by the citisens of Buffalo, and such is his professional standing and that of his Institute, that he, as well as the members of his medical staff, are not only constantly consulted by physicians all over America, but have held executive positions in leading medical and scientific societies. Dr. Pierce has on the many thousand letters from grateful people, many of whom were cured by his remedies after having been given up as incurable by local physicians and acted apecialists. Many of these grateful pattents have specially requested that their cures be published for the benefit of other sufferers. Statistics show that there are not times cause of female disorder in a hundred that Dr. Pierce's remedies will not cure promptly and permanently. No matter how serious the case may be, its matter what friends, physicians and specialists may my, no matter how helpless and hopeless the patient may feel, if she will write to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y., of which Dr. Pierce is President, she will promptly receive, free of cost, such plain, straightforward, confidential advice as will enable her to cure herself at home. If, as it sometimes happens, her case doesn't yield entirely to the remedies named, the records show that by visiting Dr. Pierce's Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute and placing herself under the treatment of the corps of skilled specialists, who have succasafully treated thousands upon thousands of cases, she will soon go forth a well, strong and happy woman. After years of experience it has been found that there are very, very few

MAY DISSOLVE.

Excitement in London Over the Cabinet Crisis.

LONDON, June 22.—The cabinet met at Lord Rosebery's residence on Downing street at 11 o'clock this morning. The Secretary of State for War, Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, entered, whistling merrily.

The Westminster Gazette, Liberal, says it is generally expected the Cabinet will decide to resign. Lord Rosebery dines with the Queen at Windsor to-night, in accordance with a previous invitation, and he will thus be able, according to the Westminster Gazette, to tender his resignation. The Gazette adds: "The Irish members are strongly opposed to a dissolution. They desired and the strongly opposed to a dissolution. The Gazette adds: "The Irish members are strongly opposed to a dissolution. They declared that 'If the Government resigns we have been betrayed. We must have a land bill. It would be a blunder and a crime to defraud us of it.' The Government, however, is receiving many communications from its leading supporters throughout the country urging them not to sacrifice legislative work to resign owing to a scratch reverse."

country tings them not to secratch reverse."

The St. James Gazette says: "The fate of the Ministry is bound up with the decision of Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, and strenuous efforts are being made to induce him to reconsider his decision. A very strong whip will be issued by the Miniterialists on Monday, and all the Irishmen have been summoned back."

It is asserted that the Irish members are largely responsible for the present situation. The basis for this assertion is that their action in compelling the Chancellor of the Exchequer to rescind the vote for the excation of a statute to Oliver Cromwell seriously undermined the Government. The Liberal organ, the Speaker, to day describes the action of the Irish members in this instance as a "Display of childish bitterness," and says there was no question of recting the statue as an approval of Cromwell's Irish policy.

In many other ways it is claimed the Irish members helped to bring about the coming general slection, which, it is asserted, they themselves are so unprepared for, and which, according to general opinion, will surely result in the return of the Unionists to power and make it impossible to pass a home rule measure for a long time to come.

THE DUKE'S "BLUFF." His Offer of Resignation Was Not Meant Seriously.

Meant Seriously.

LONDON, June 21.—The true story of the "determination" of the Duke of Cambridge to resign his position of Commander-in-Chief of the British Army throws new light upon the subject. There has long been a strong agitation against the Duke, and the Government, it appears, acting on the principle of expediency, caused it to be known that it would materially assist the Government if the Duke, not suspecting that his offer would be accepted, sent in his papers to the Queen, and the latter handed them to the Government under the impression that they would be returned. The Government, however, accepted the papers as a definite resignation, and Mr. Campbell-Bannerman made the announcement to the House, which was the last thing expected or desired either by the Queen or by the Duke of Cambridge.

When Tom Brown struck out in yesterday's game for the second time and the Cincinnatian called Tom "a farmer," "Der Bous President" arose in his wrath and had the Porkepolitan sected from the grounds. This action undoubtedly gave much satisfaction to Von der Ahe, but it was rather high-handed and is perhaps a dangerous and unpopular move to fellow up.

That Judge Aull intends to keep the races at the Fair Grounds as straight as possible is shown by the way he took hold of the suspicious riding of Rey Del Mar in the third race Friday, which ended in the suspension of Jockey Leigh and the probable revocation of his dicense by the Turf Congress.

dering the Reds off the grounds when they essayed to do a little practicing before their regular practice time. Some of the boys were a little loant to comply with the order, so Mr. Freedman summoned several officers and threatened to have the players arrested unless they vacated immediately. Under the pressure brought to bear on them the Reds weakened, leaving Mr. Freedman and his brass-buttoned cohorts in full possession of the field. Mr. Freedman appears to be doing everything in his power to court unpopularity—a quality that is not conducive to money-making in any line of business.

There is a yellow and black sign at Sportsman's Park, but those letters evidently did not jump up and down Friday.

Ely was alone responsible for the loss of the game to the Cincinnatis Friday, for with two men out McPhee put up an easy fly and Ely missed it.
